August 8, 1980.

Dear Dr. Burleigh:

This is a long overdue letter. I have finally put together a rather complete set of the descendents of my Great-Parents, Dr. Henry Taylor, M.D. and his wife, Mary Anne Randolph.

As you will note I have included Xerox copies of several Death and Marriage Certificates, which should prove interesting. Also I xeroxed several old pictures which turned out reasonably well.

The page showing Tomb Stone inscriptions does not include the record of my grandparents, Walford Taylor and Elizabeth Jane Webb, as well as second wife, Sarah McLaughlin, who are buried in the Burk's Falls Cemetery, which is located in Armour Township. (Armour adjoins Ryerson on the east side of Ryerson). Also my parents and brother, James are buried in the Taylor plot at Burk's Falls Cemetery.

I have also included maps of Ryerson and Armour Townships, taken from the Atlas of Muskoka and Parry Sound Districts, published in 1879. (I have a Re-Print of this book). The maps show names of the early settlers at that time, which include Walford Taylor, James E. Taylor, William Taylor and Abram Snider.

Burk's Falls is in Armour Twp. and is about 5 miles from the farm where I was born and grew up in Ryerson, located by my grandfather, James Millar (see Ryerson Map)

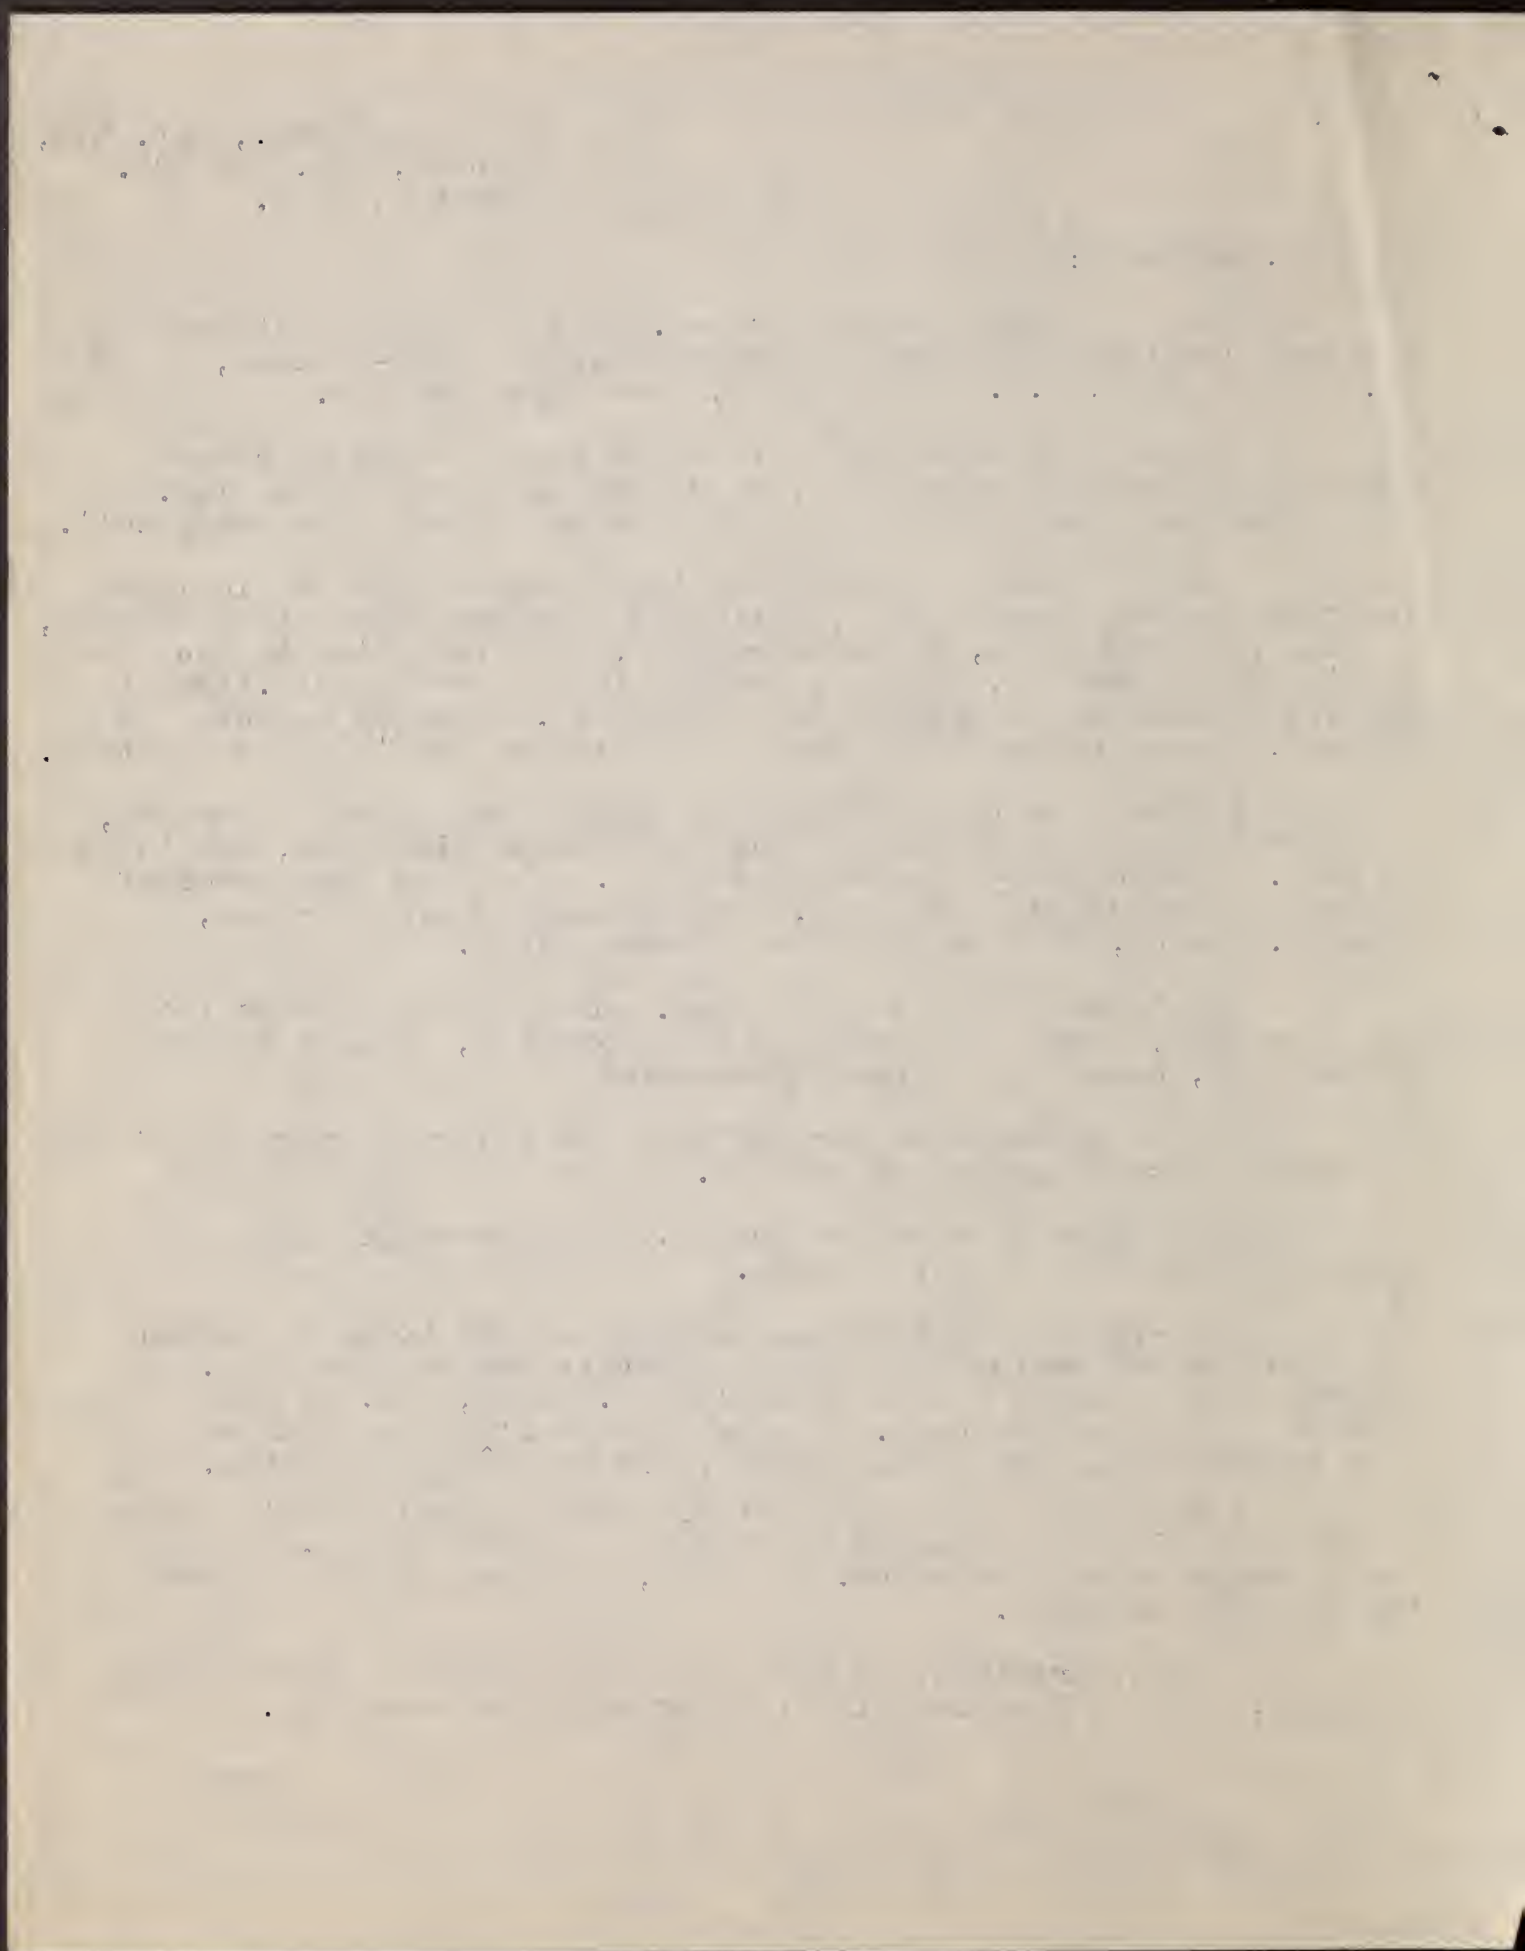

I have included at back of book the information gained from the Randolph chart which you sent me.

This chart I am now returning. My sincere apologies for taking so long to return it to you.

I re-typed this book last winter and had hoped to attend the Genealogical Seminar held in Kingston in May of this year. However I was planning a trip to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. to visit cousins. I couldn't do both. I hope to make it to the Seminar at Hamilton next year and shall look forward to meeting you then.

I have belonged to the Ontario Genealogical Society, both Toronto and Kingston Branches for the past several years. I find the meetings very interesting. However, I am not able to attend the Kingston meetings.

I am now retired, so have more time to devote to my family research, which I find most interesting and time consuming.

I met many cousins at Sault Ste. Marie when I visited there in July. They are descendents of my Great-Aunt Margot, daughter of Dr. Taylor.

Since coming back I have been able to add considerable new data to the material already typed.

Trusting I shall have the pleasure of hearing from you again in the near future.

I remain

Sincerely your cousin,

Ruth Millar

INTRODUCTION

The following information I have gathered from many sources over a period of many years, including the Taylor Family Bible, Old Letters, Newspaper Clippings besides many extras and incidentals from Mother.

A special thanks goes to the many cousins who have helped me not only with their words of encouragement and enthusiastic interest in the "Family Tree", but with information supplied to me. A special 'thank you' goes to Pearl Black, of Sunnidale, Ontario and Harold (now deceased) and Margaret Taylor and the late George Taylor of Grimsby, Ontario, for the details and pictures re the descendants of Great Uncle William Taylor and especially to Percy Cronk, of Central Butte, Saskatchewan for the details of Great Aunt Marrett's descendants, who in turn is Percy's Paternal Grandmother.

The detailed chart of the Randolphs was supplied to me by Doctor H. C. Burleigh, M.D., now of Kingston, Ontario (formerly of Perth, Ont.). A most interesting point here is the manner in which this contact was first made. Back in 1940 a letter was received by Mother from Dr. Burleigh enquiring about the descendants of Mary Anne Randolph, wife of Dr. Henry Taylor, M.D. As may be seen from the chart his great-grandmother, Ada Moriah (Randolph) Burleigh was a sister to my great-grandmother, Mary Anne (Marie) Randolph, wife of Dr. Henry Taylor.

The information regarding Dr. Taylor is largely from an article from the book, "The Medical Profession of Upper Canada" by Wm. C. Kniff. A copy of this article is included in the following pages (see pages 1-3). The name of this book was given to me by Dr. Burleigh when I contacted him by letter in 1962.

It is my hope that through the reading of the following pages my "cousins by the dozens" will be brought closer together as a family.

Any extra information any one can supply will be greatly appreciated.

Will each cousin who can supply additional information please contact me, giving name and address and his or her relationship.

Back in May of 1966 the originally typed Family Tree was sent to various cousins across Canada, as far west as Vancouver, B.C. and down to Seattle, Washington, U.S.A. It returned from its travels in January of 1967, with many extras added.

Since that time I have continued to add data such as dates and names re Marriages, Births and Deaths, (which by the way has been considerable).

To Re-Type the total effort has been a stupendous undertaking which has taken many hours of careful checking and re-checking of details.

1790-1890

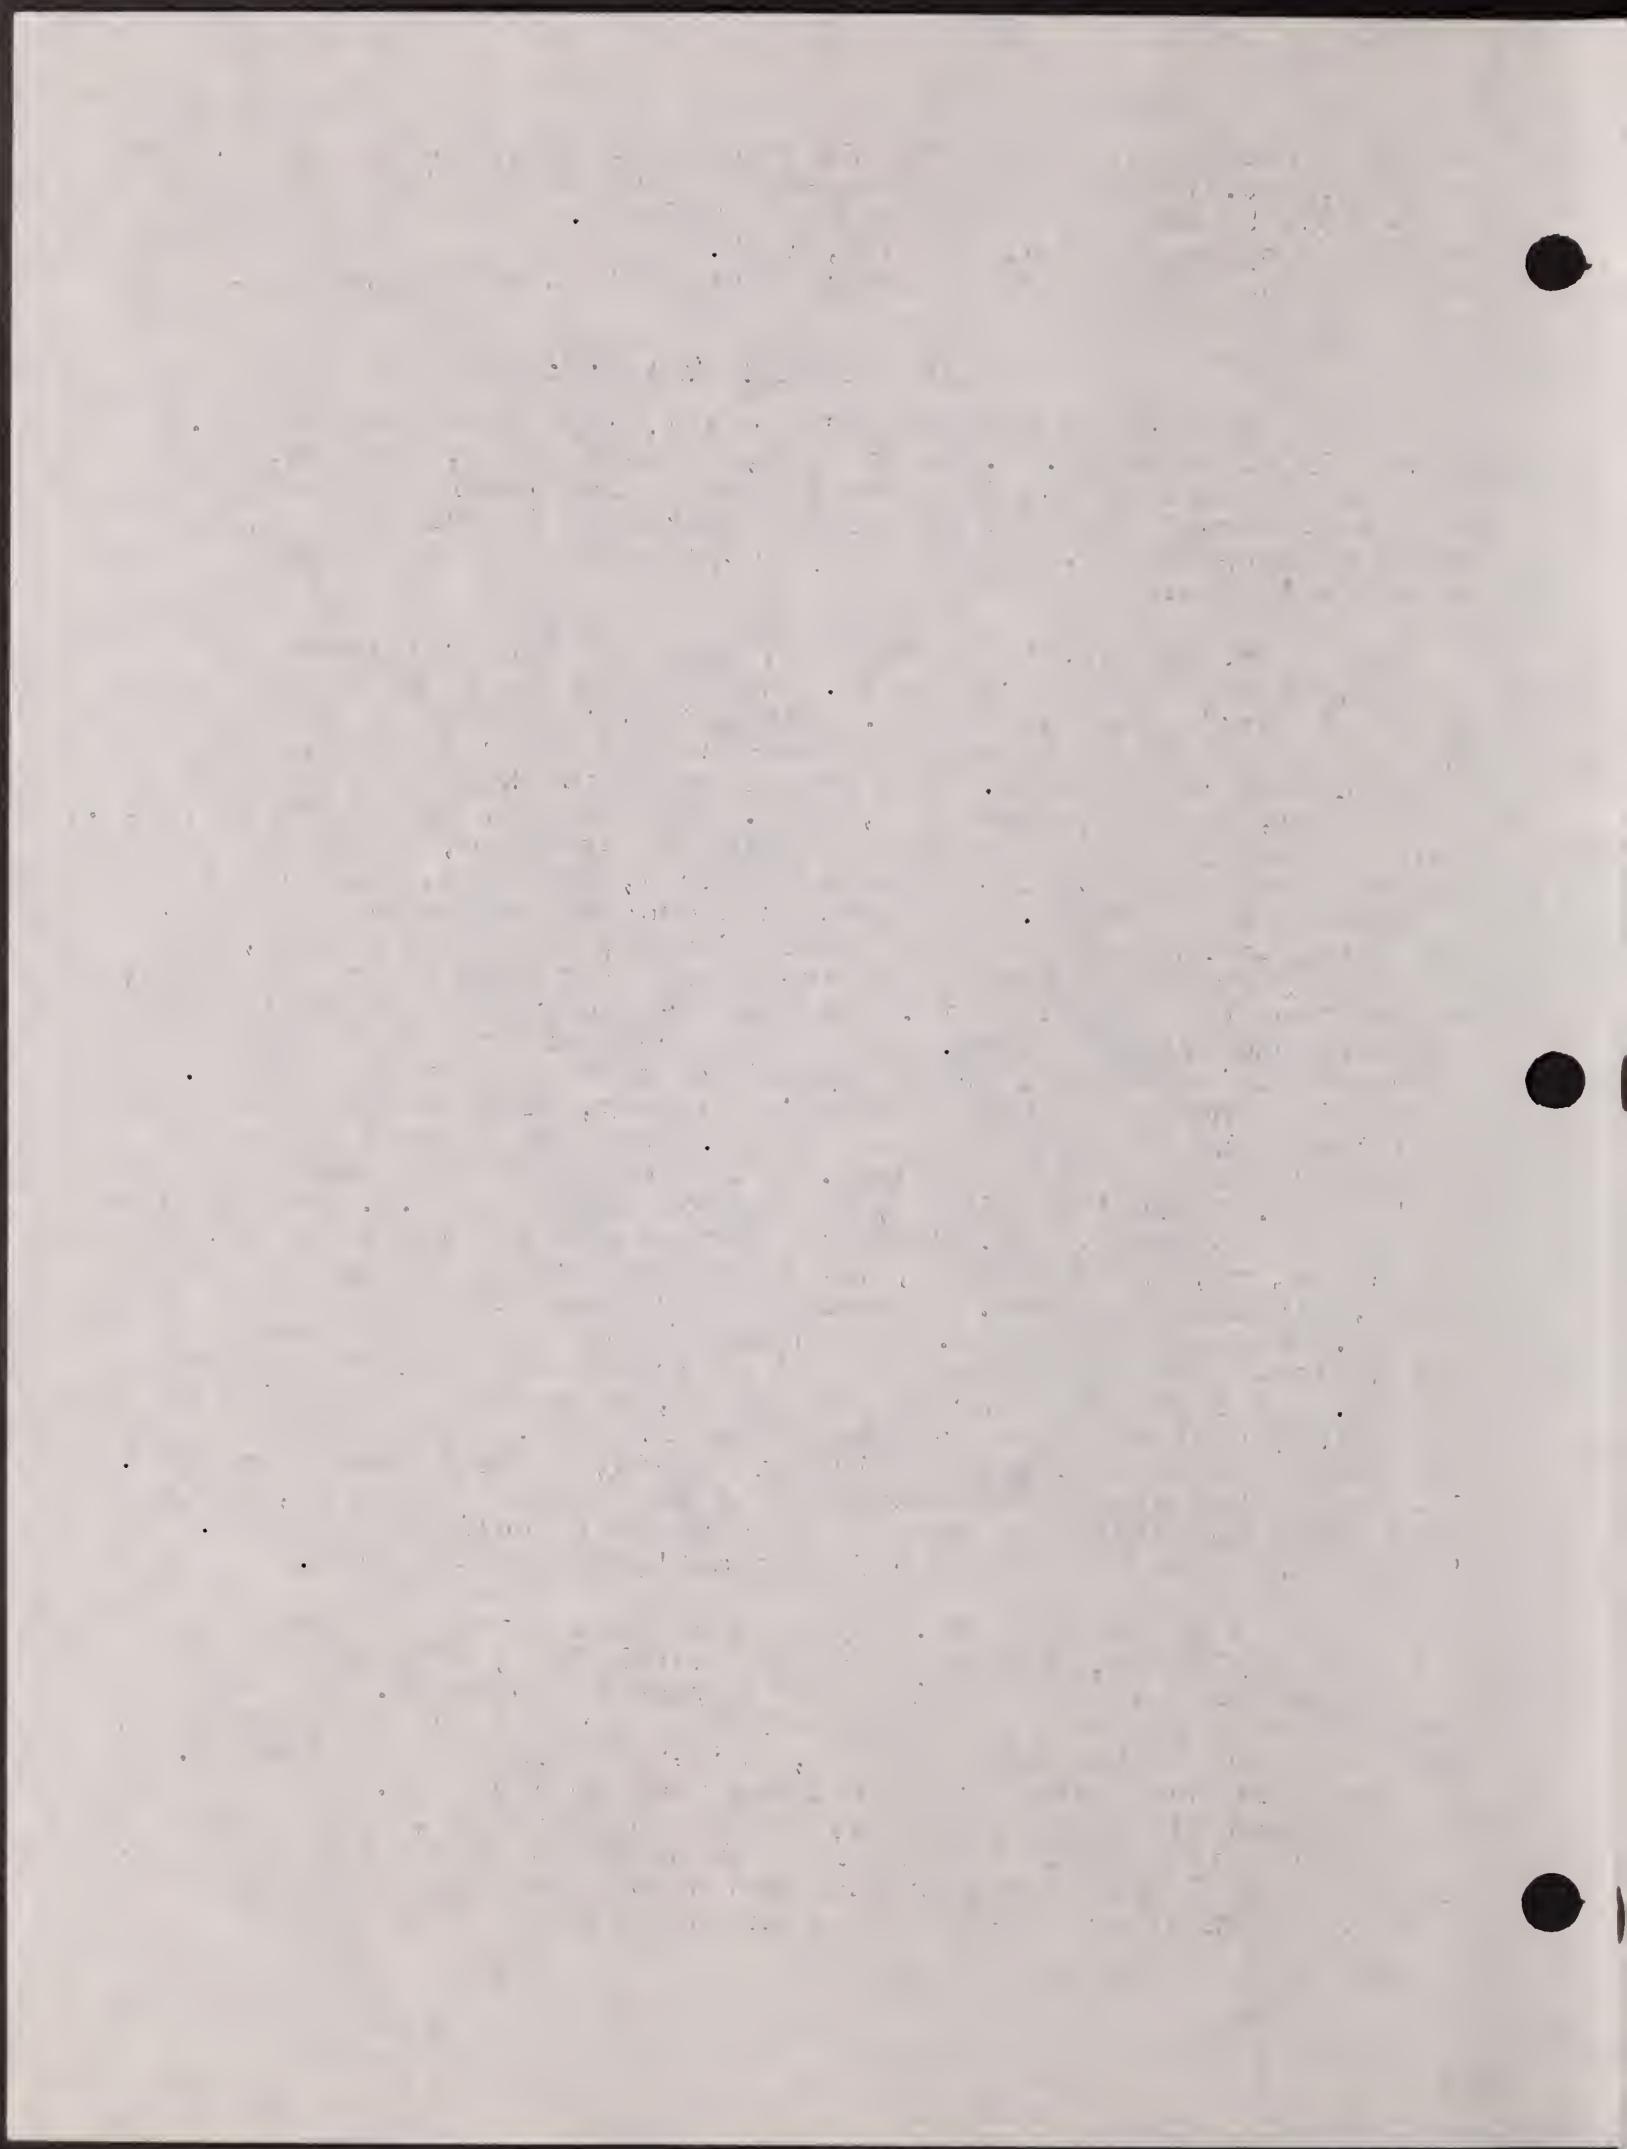

Joseph Wilson, 1, 1844 at the University Library, 76, Queen's St.
Toronto, Ont. From the book "The Medical Profession of Ontario 1840-1890", by William O. Smith - 1945-1947.
Published by Dr. Briggs, Toronto, 1894.
From Section 3 - Historic Portraits of Early Canadian Doctors.

Dr. Henry Taylor, M.D.

Now hundred years old January 1, 1890 (See frontpiece).
We are indebted to Dr. F. L. Howland, of Luntville, Ontario, who visited him January 10, 1890 for the following interesting sketch of a very remarkable man, who of all spoken of in these pages, was alone a contentation. His history supplies in many ways a most valuable lesson:

Dr. Taylor, as we believe, the oldest practitioner in Canada, if not in this continent. He is still hale and hearty and lives at Hurk's Falls, Ontario. The personal history of a doctor who has practiced medicine for three-quarters of a century, must prove highly interesting. The subject of this sketch was born at Birmingham, England, January 1, 1790. His father, Samuel Taylor, M.D., had for many years a lucrative practice at Aylesham, England, and numbered among his patients Lords Suffield, Stratton, Kensington and the Earl of Oxford. The nineteenth century was ushered in with great rejoicing in England and Henry Taylor, ten years of age, distinctly remembers dancing on the green with many other juveniles, to the tune of martial music. He was the youngest of a family of three brothers and three sisters. Two of his nephews are in the practice of medicine in England, one at Aylesham, the other at Coltishall.
Henry mixed medicine in his father's surgery, when his height had to be extended by his standing on a stool. For seven years he was apprenticed as a medical student. Then for three years he attended Guy's St. Thomas' Hospital, taking his degree of M.D. when twenty-eight years of age. Dr. Taylor's countenance kindles with intelligent anger, - he proudly, yet reverently speaks of his surgical tutor, Sir Astley Cooper. Blonfil was the leading professor of midwifery. He lived elsewhere. In London there was an epidemic of Sir Astley. The latter was refined in manner, and gentlemanly to a degree. On lecturing, during the course, on a certain location of the hip-joint, over which he and Blonfil differed, he said, "I work in a certain part of place, and turning his hands, "iled" into Blonfil.
Dr. Taylor had heard Blonfil use the most vulgar language, and a very nasty and unmerciful expression was a favorable explosive.
"He was the most insolent man I ever met", said Dr. Taylor.

On graduation, Dr. Taylor went into partnership with his father at Aylesham, where he remained until June, 1836 when he emigrated to Canada, and practiced for a year in Montreal. During the summer season he had a paying practice as a surgeon on English prisoners, but in winter he had little to do, and spent his summer evenings.
He therefore determined to leave, and came to Lunenburg. Here and in the adjacent villages of Gaden, Horton and Portland, he practiced for twenty-six years, sixteen of which he spent in the latter place.
He entered all the hardships incident to the practice of medicine in a Canadian pioneer settlement, and never refused to attend poor patient. He was held in high esteem, socially and professionally. The poverty of his patients bore heavily on him at times, and more than once his charitable work was sold for debts contracted for medical assistance. He did not take out a license in England, and he was once hauled up for practicing without a license, but the validity of his English diploma was maintained, and he was acquitted. For a time he kept three horses kept at work in making his professional calls. In earlier years he frequently travelled on foot, by the aid of a compass, between points where there was not even a foot-path. On one occasion, while visiting on a woman in confinement in a lonely house, a large pack of wolves crossed the door-yard in full cry.

Dr. Taylor never took an active interest in either municipal or provincial politics. For three years, however, he was Master of the Orange Lodge in Portland, while for twelve years he was a member of the Sons of Temperance in Wilton. Rum and whiskey were the common beverages of the people, the former selling at 3s 6d. per gallon and the latter for 6d. per gallon in Kingston. In 1867 or 68 he removed to the township of Brock, Lanark County, where he remained a few years, but he did not practice much. September 25, 1875 he settled in Ryerson Township, Parry Sound District, near to where a son was living. It is astonishing the amount of professional work, travelling for the most part on foot, he has done in Ryerson and vicinity. To-day, March 1, 1900, his memory is good, talks without a cane and serves himself. About seven years ago the writer met Dr. Taylor in consultation, he having walked that day fourteen miles to meet him. At that time he frequently walked, in one day, from Ryerson to Collingwood, a distance of twenty-seven miles, and thought nothing of it. He stands five feet eleven and three-quarter inches in height and is nearly up to his average weight of one hundred and fifty pounds. Until a year ago he could read ordinary print without spectacles, and his hearing is yet fair. Dr. Taylor has always eaten in moderation of fixed plain food from the animal and vegetable kingdom, but avoided pastries, confectionery and such like. He has ever looked on the bright side of life; never desponded, and has decidedly kept as he says a 'stiff upper lip'. He drank moderately of wine and pure liquors in his earlier years, but latterly, for many years has drunk no alcoholic beverages. His wife died twelve years ago, at 58 years of age, and was thirty years his junior.

The following is taken from the Huntville paper,
April 16, 1900.

"It has fallen to the lot of very few journalists in Canada to record the death of a citizen as old as the late Dr. Henry Taylor, who passed peacefully away to his long home on Thursday, the 3rd inst., at the ripe age of 100 years 3 months and 3 days. The last days of his life were spent in Burk's Falls with his daughter, Mrs. Snyder. He retained a wonderful degree of physical and mental vigor until the end. He was a member of the Methodist Church for over forty years, and was highly respected, both in his profession and private life, by all who knew him.

THERMODYNAMICS

1968

1. The first law of thermodynamics states that the change in internal energy of a system is equal to the heat added to the system minus the work done by the system. This is expressed mathematically as  $\Delta U = Q - W$ .

2. The second law of thermodynamics states that the entropy of an isolated system never decreases. This is expressed mathematically as  $\Delta S \geq 0$ .

3. The third law of thermodynamics states that the entropy of a perfect crystal at absolute zero is zero. This is expressed mathematically as  $S = 0$  at  $T = 0$ .

4. The Gibbs free energy is a thermodynamic potential that can be used to determine the spontaneity of a process. It is defined as  $G = U - TS + PV$ .

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem. It is shown that the problem is of great importance in the theory of the structure of the atom.

2. In the second part of the paper, the author gives a detailed account of the experiments which have been carried out. It is shown that the results of these experiments are in good agreement with the theoretical predictions.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the results of the experiments. It is shown that the results are in good agreement with the theoretical predictions. The author also discusses the possible causes of the discrepancies between the experimental results and the theoretical predictions.

4. In the fourth part of the paper, the author gives a detailed account of the experiments which have been carried out. It is shown that the results of these experiments are in good agreement with the theoretical predictions.

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the results of the experiments. It is shown that the results are in good agreement with the theoretical predictions. The author also discusses the possible causes of the discrepancies between the experimental results and the theoretical predictions.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and interesting in the history of science. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of life, and shows that the most probable one is the theory of spontaneous generation.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a detailed discussion of the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that this theory is based on the fact that life is a complex of many different parts, and that these parts are all derived from a common ancestor. The author shows that this theory is supported by the facts of the history of life, and that it is the only one that can explain the origin of life.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the evidence for the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that there is a great deal of evidence in support of this theory, and that it is the only one that can explain the origin of life. The author shows that the evidence is of two kinds: first, the evidence of the history of life, and second, the evidence of the structure of life.

4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the objections to the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that there are many objections to this theory, but that they are all based on a misunderstanding of the facts of the history of life. The author shows that the objections are unfounded, and that the theory of spontaneous generation is the only one that can explain the origin of life.

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the conclusions of the paper. It is shown that the theory of spontaneous generation is the only one that can explain the origin of life, and that it is supported by the facts of the history of life. The author concludes that the theory of spontaneous generation is the only one that can explain the origin of life.

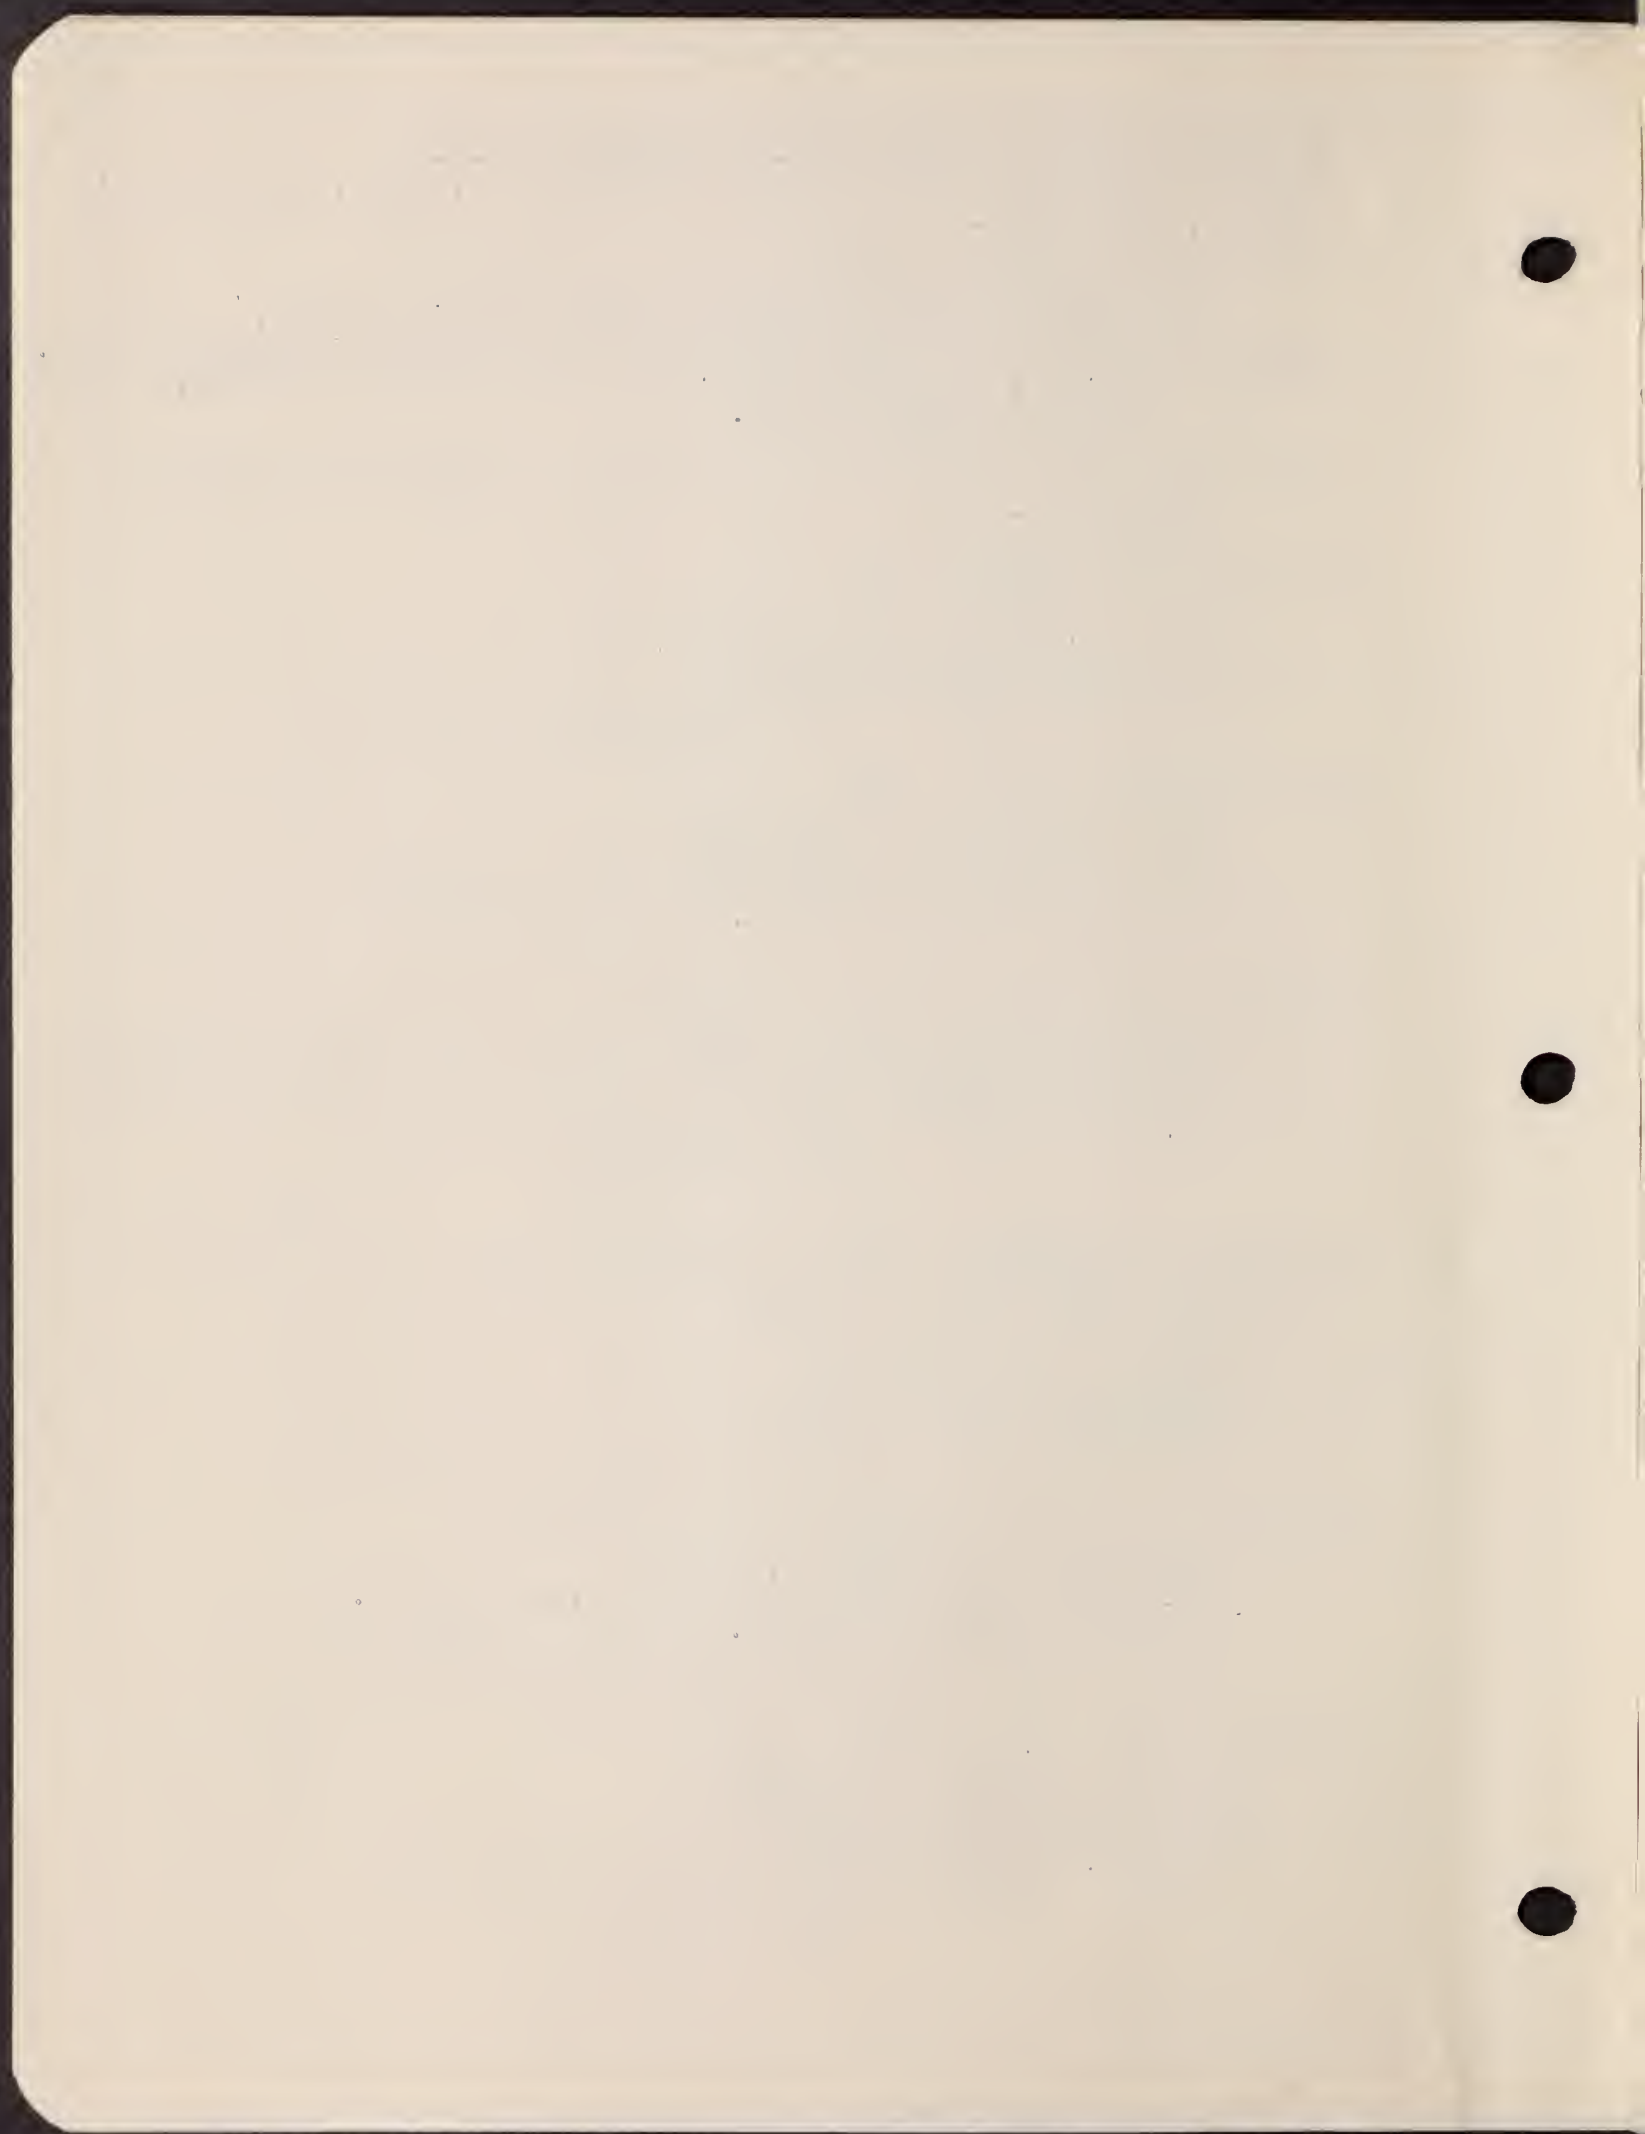

6. The sixth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the implications of the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that this theory has many important implications for the history of life, and that it is the only one that can explain the origin of life. The author shows that the implications of this theory are of two kinds: first, the implications for the history of life, and second, the implications for the structure of life.

7. The seventh part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the evidence for the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that there is a great deal of evidence in support of this theory, and that it is the only one that can explain the origin of life. The author shows that the evidence is of two kinds: first, the evidence of the history of life, and second, the evidence of the structure of life.

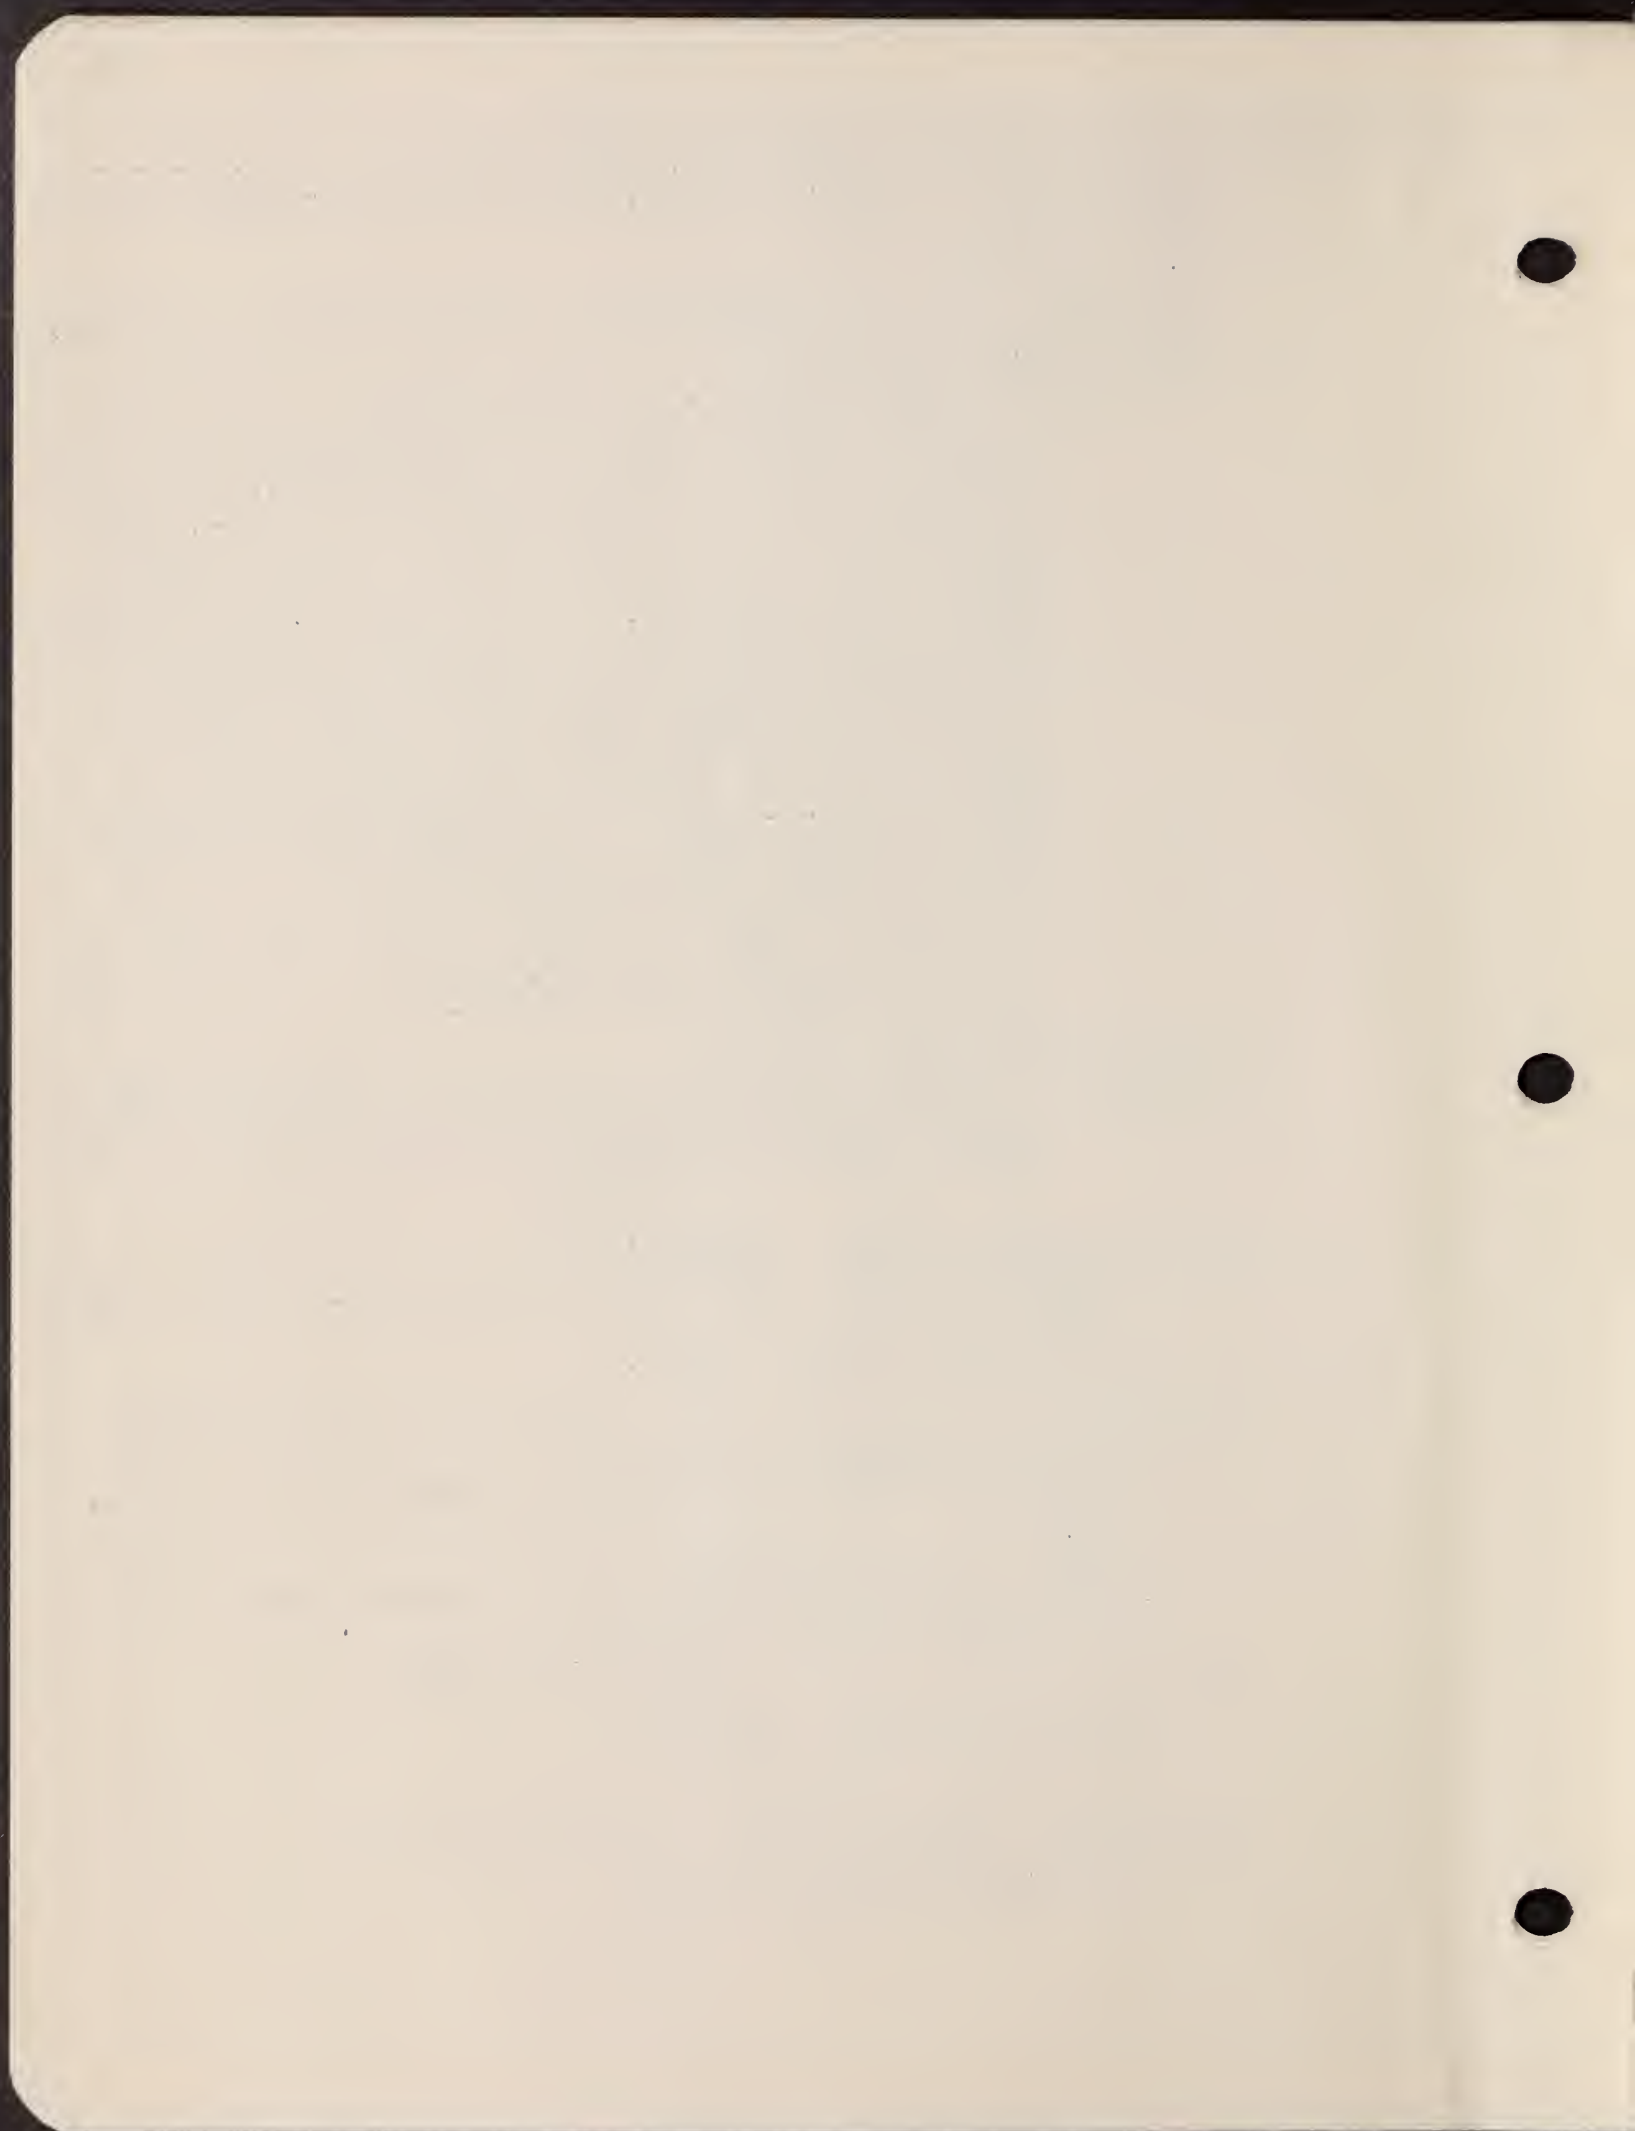

8. The eighth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the objections to the theory of spontaneous generation. It is shown that there are many objections to this theory, but that they are all based on a misunderstanding of the facts of the history of life. The author shows that the objections are unfounded, and that the theory of spontaneous generation is the only one that can explain the origin of life.

9. The ninth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the conclusions of the paper. It is shown that the theory of spontaneous generation is the only one that can explain the origin of life, and that it is supported by the facts of the history of life. The author concludes that the theory of spontaneous generation is the only one that can explain the origin of life.

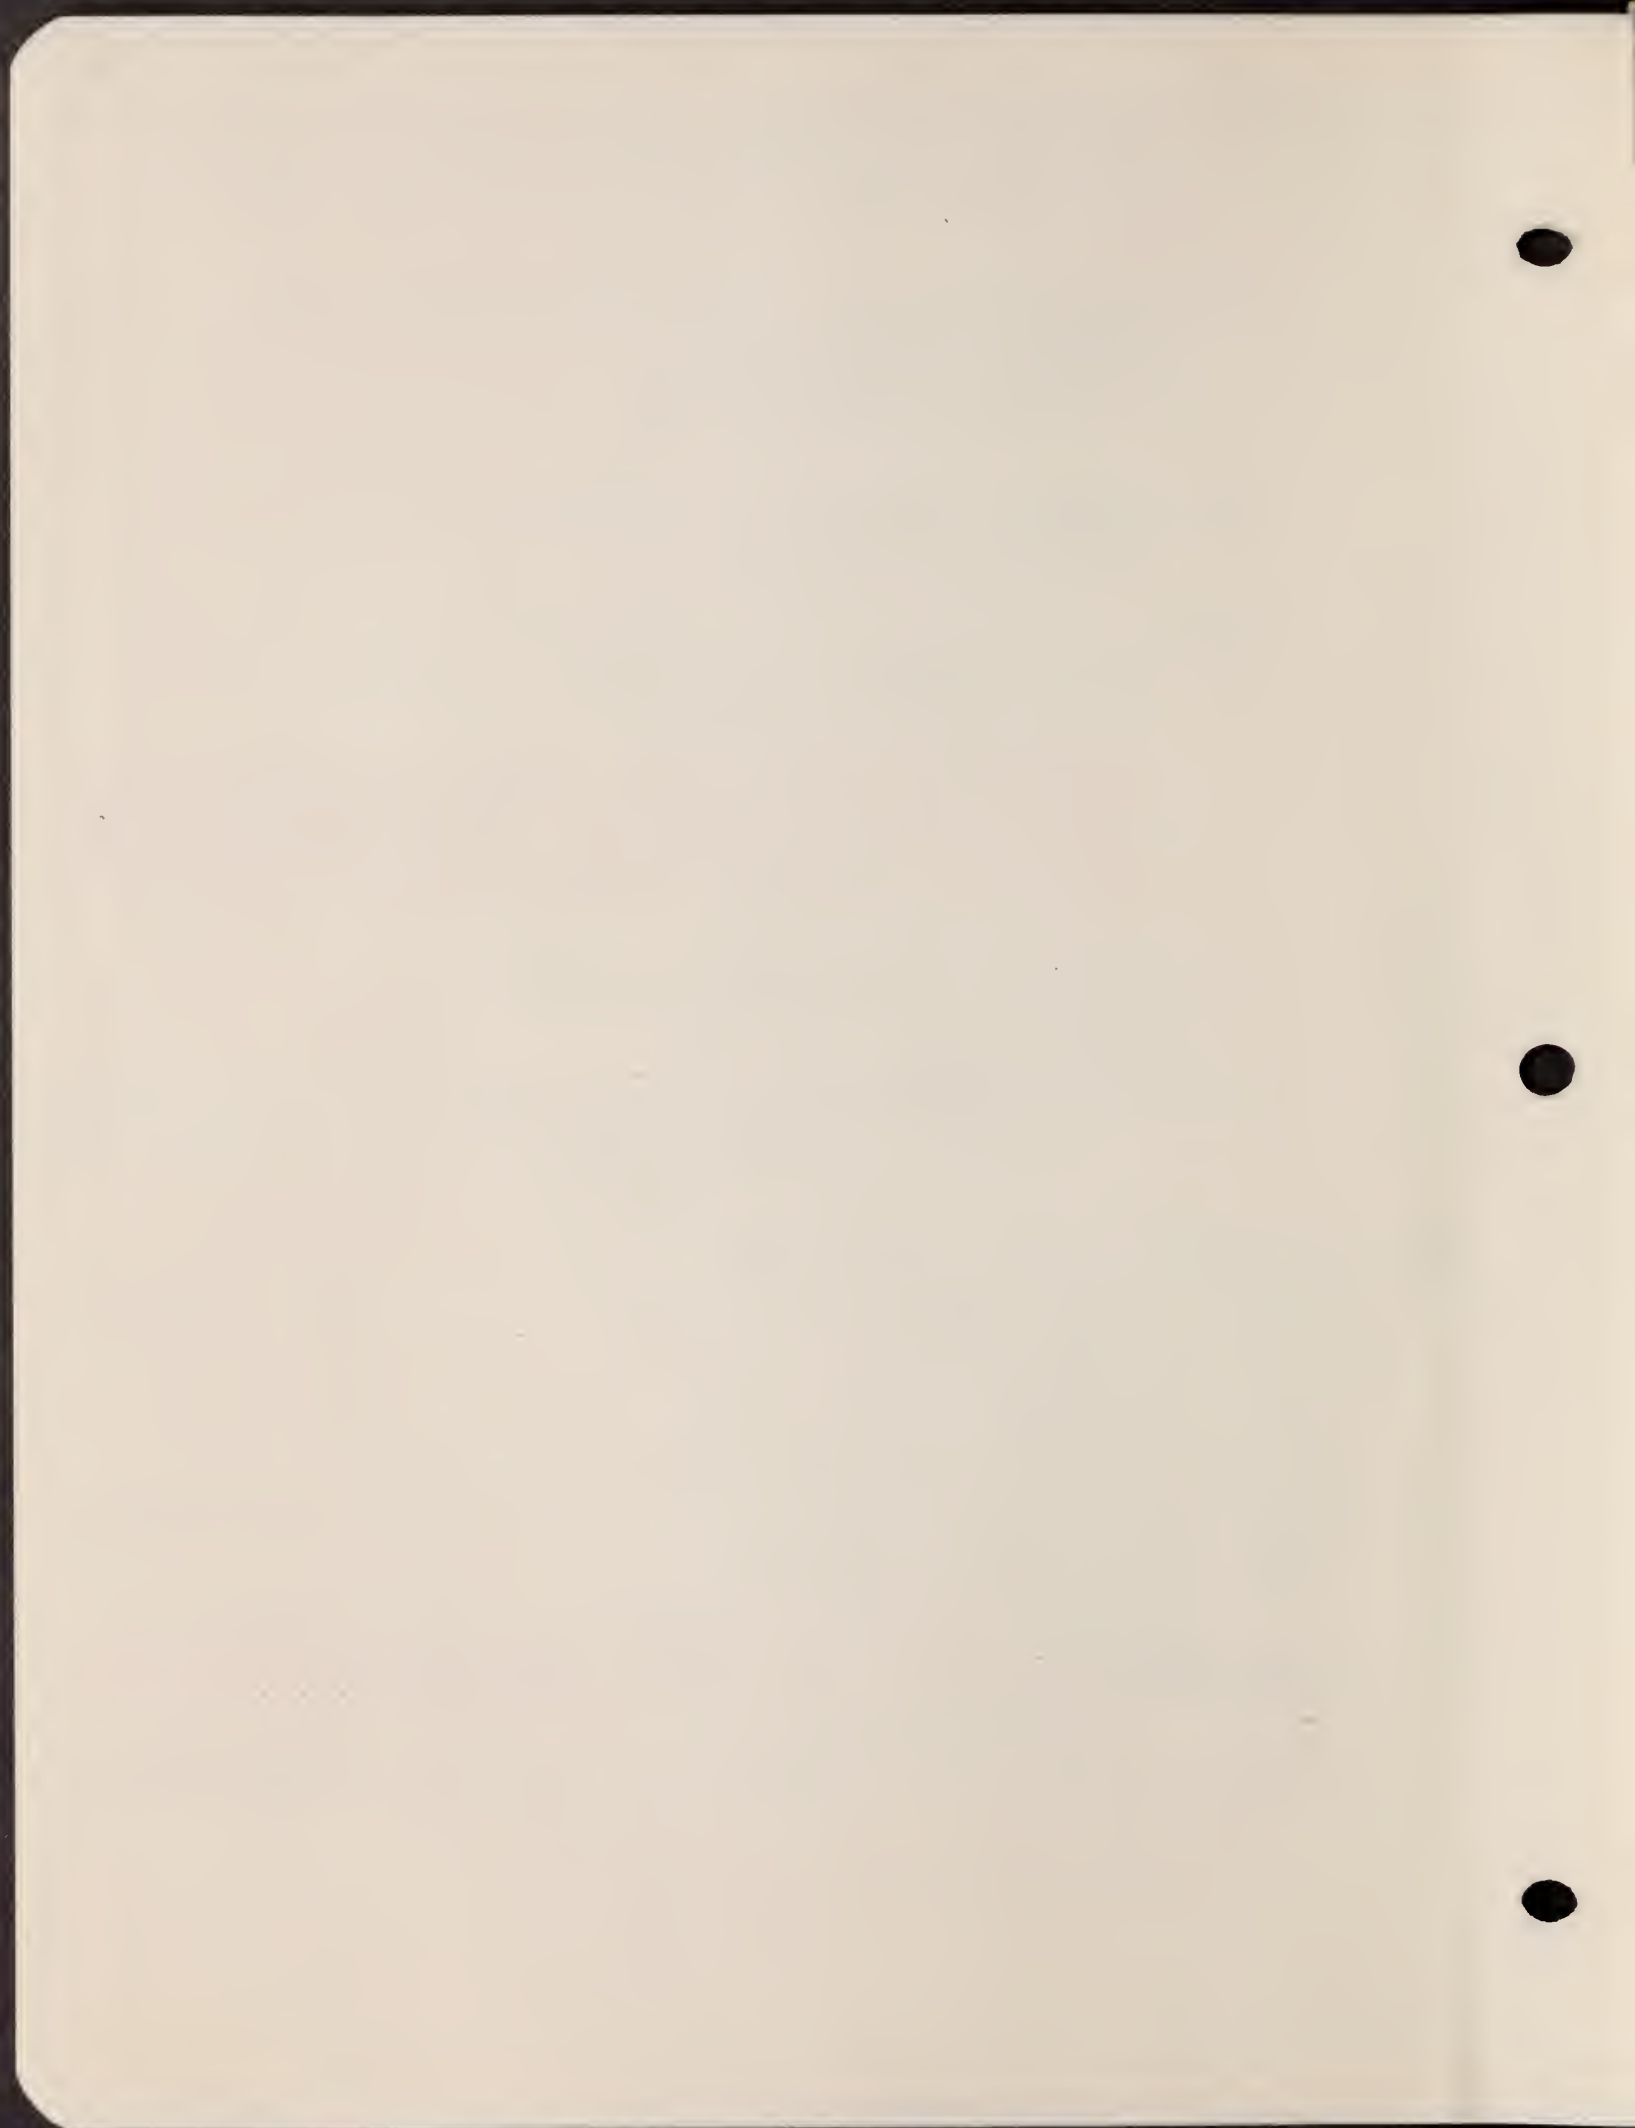

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life.
The author discusses the various theories which have been advanced to explain the origin of life, and concludes that the most probable theory is that life
arose from non-living matter.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the evolution of life.
The author discusses the various theories which have been advanced to explain the evolution of life, and concludes that the most probable theory is that life
evolved from non-living matter.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the origin of the universe. The author discusses the various theories which have been advanced to explain the origin of the universe, and concludes that the most probable theory is that the universe arose from non-living matter.

4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the evolution of the universe. The author discusses the various theories
which have been advanced to explain the evolution of the universe, and concludes that the most probable theory is that the universe evolved from non-living matter.

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the origin of the solar system. The author discusses the various theories which have been advanced to explain the origin of the solar system, and concludes that the most probable theory is that the solar system
arose from non-living matter.

6. The sixth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the evolution of the solar system. The author discusses the various theories which have been advanced to explain the evolution of the solar system, and concludes that the most probable theory is that the solar system
evolved from non-living matter.

7. The seventh part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the origin of the earth. The author discusses the various theories
which have been advanced to explain the origin of the earth, and concludes that the most probable theory is that the earth arose from non-living matter.

8. The eighth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the evolution of the earth. The author discusses the various theories
which have been advanced to explain the evolution of the earth, and concludes that the most probable theory is that the earth evolved from non-living matter.
